County wants assurances on sites

BY ED LEPOMA
Hancock County's Solid Waste District wants written assurances from state environmental officials that no hazardous waste has been dumped at three illegal sites recently closed.

The request came after county attorney Gerald Gex and District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand appeared before the District meeting Wednesday, and informed them that supervisors voted 3-0 to amend the county's 20-year Solid Waste Plan to add three more Class II rubbish sites in the northern part of Hancock County.

The move was spearheaded by Board of Supervisors President Phillip Moran, who said four mining pits operating in close vicinity to each other off the Kiln-Picayune Road had been shut down after an inspection by the state Department of Environmental Quality. A DEQ inspection revealed the pits were accepting tree limbs, concrete and other debris in violation of their permit, which allows them only to operate a mining operation.

The DEQ ordered Princes Ladner, Kevin Haas and Charles Henley to "cease and desist" dumping anything else into the pits until they file for a permit to operate a Class II rubbish site.

Moran told supervisors besides mining, the three businessmen made their livelihood by clearing lots for new home construction in Diamondhead and other areas. The tree stumps and other debris are hauled to their pits and buried, he said the closure of the pits would at the least double the cost of clearing lots and at the worst bring house construction

Window dedicated today

BY BETSY GAGNET
In the early morning hours, Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis is illuminated by sunlight streaming in through the beautiful colored panes of the new cathedral window behind the altar.

The window, which will be dedicated at a 10:30 a.m. service today, was given in memory of James Richard Shadoin. It incorporates the original rose window which honors Ferry and Thomas Boyd, forming a celtic cross with a pelican and a dove at either side of the bottom.

Shadoin's wife Margaret, who donated the window along with children Patricia Williamson and James Richard Shadoin, Jr. and friends, explained the pelican is very symbolic.

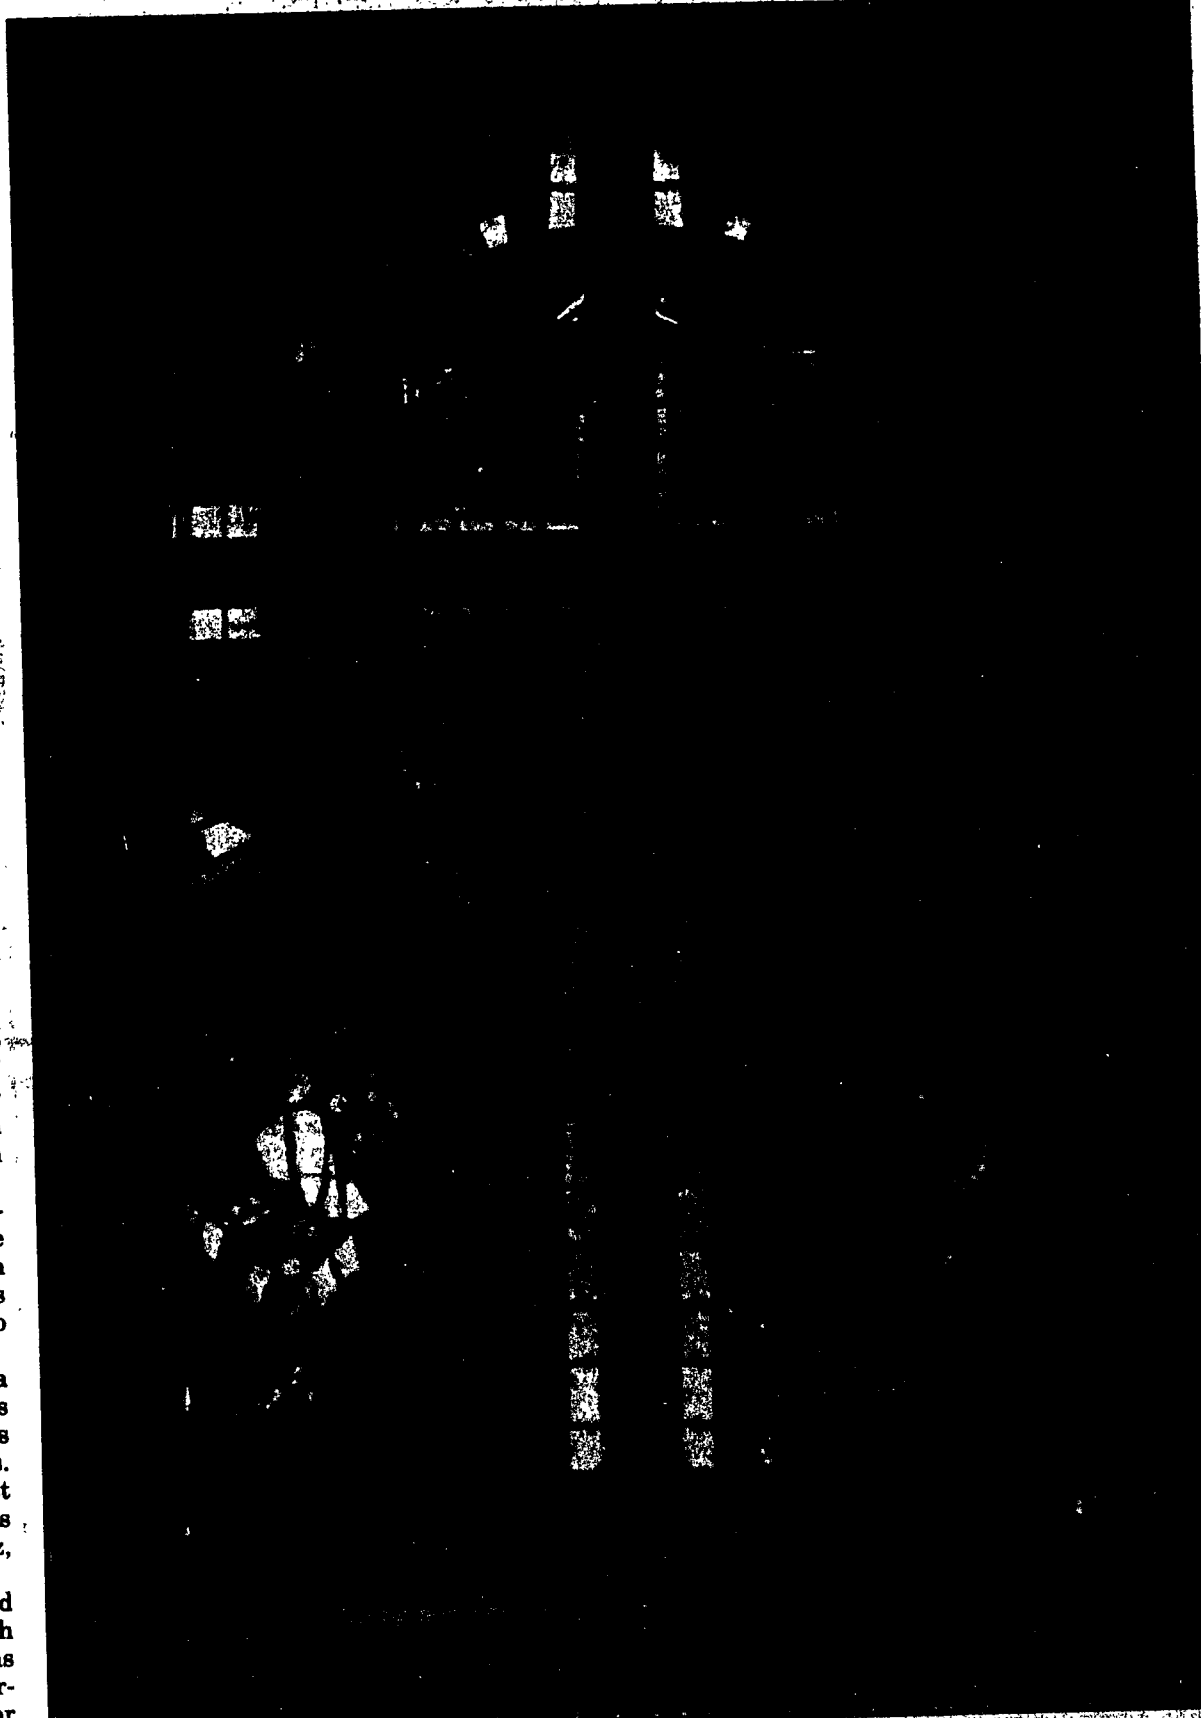

"The pelican is the only bird that picks its own breast to feed its young with its blood," she said. "It's symbolic of Our Lord Jesus Christ who died on the cross and sacrificed his own blood for us."

According to legend, Thomas Cranmer, editor of the Episcopal Book of common Prayer, changed his family's coat of arms from the crane to the pelican.

The window took over a year to complete and was designed by artist Carol Vegas and constructed in Memphis. After being delivered to Christ Episcopal, the window was installed by Mark Buszkiewicz, Margaret Shadoin said.

Shadoin said her husband was very active in the church he loved very much, serving as Senior Warden, Junior Warden, Treasurer and Senior Warden Emeritus.

"He always got to church 30 minutes before me," she said, "and was glad to see me get there on time."

Dunbar officials oppose clinic

BY ED LEPOMA
The corporation that runs the Dunbar Village assisted retirement complex opposes Hancock County's plans to locate a clinic nearby that would treat elderly and indigent patients.

SentryCare President Chris Cheek came before supervisors Monday and told them SentryCare is interested in buying the vacant and deteriorating building off Dunbar Avenue in order to incorporate it into the complex. He said he put in a bid for the building, and would oppose locating a clinic in what is primarily a residential area.

Supervisors some time ago approved the use of the old Health Department building if they received funding to reopen a clinic here that would provide low-cost medical treatment to the county's poor and elderly.

Coastal's Executive Director Joe Dawsey announced in early October that the U.S. Public Health Department has agreed to fund a clinic in Hancock County. The clinic was shut down more than two years ago, forcing those needing medical aid to travel to clinics in Harrison County operated by Coastal Family.

At the same time, he gave supervisors the good news about the grant, Dawsey said he planned to have engineers look over the old health department building to see what it might cost to get it repaired and the clinic up and running.

He told supervisors if the renovation was too costly, he

D'head Post Office seeks new operator

BY ED LEPOMA
The U.S. Post Office has opted to cancel its contract with the woman who runs the Diamondhead facility, but it is not likely service will be affected during the busy Christmas season.

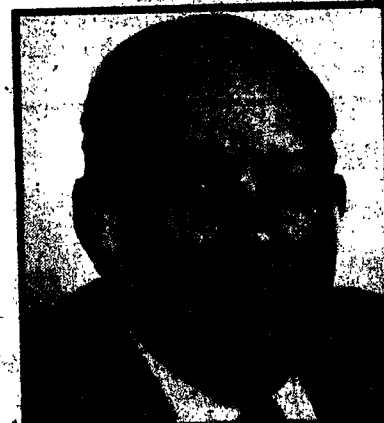

Brenda Smith confirmed to the Echo this week that she is giving up the contract after operating the facility on Leisure Time Drive for almost four and a half years.

"I'm giving it up, effective Nov. 29," said Smith. Smith said she also ran a secretarial service out of the facility, and plans to devote her fulltime duties to that. She said she has taken another office across the street.

Under provisions of her contract, Smith said she notified Post Office officials 60 days ago that she wanted to renegotiate her contract. She has been operating the facility for 1997, but Smith said the ume has increased dramatically over the years, and she needed

Mike Ladner, who served District 5 for two terms and was president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, died unexpectedly at his home Wednesday night. See Day Views on page 4A for remembrances of the man many knew as "Big Mike."

Wreck injures one

An 82-year-old man was injured Friday afternoon when his truck ran into a parked van at the corner of Beach Boulevard and DeMontblain Street. Bay St. Louis Corporal Travis T. Foreman said Joseph Wyman of Waveland was transported to Hancock Medical Center with lacerations to the head, he required 100-200 stitches. Wyman's truck struck a parked van, which caused a chain reaction of two other vehicles being struck. The van was driven by a tourist returning to his Mississippi home from Florida. The cause of the accident has not been determined. (Echo staff photo by Edward Meek)

Youth festival slated at OLG

BY BETSY GAGNET

Later this month, young people from all over the Gulf Coast will gather in Bay St. Louis for a different type of festival.

The young people will gather for Youth 2000, a prayer festival which will bring them together at Our Lady of the Gulf

Church Nov. 21-23.

"It's a Eucharistic-centered retreat," explained Douglas Gleber, pastoral minister to youth at OLG. "It's three days of talks, music, prayer and small group workshops for ages 13-30."

The aim of the retreat is to educate the youth about the Eucharist and to gather them in prayer, according to Gleber.

The first Youth 2000 retreat in the United States was held in Dallas, Texas, five years ago and was modeled after similar retreats in Europe.

"It's primarily giving them an opportunity to slow down and talk about their faith and God," Gleber said. "(Young people) don't usually have the opportunity to slow down and reflect upon their faith and have the opportunity to share it with other young people."

The OLG event will feature as speakers Fr. Bob Lombardo and Fr. Andrew Apostoli, both Franciscan Friars of Renewal. Also attending is Missionary of the Eternal Word Fr. John Mary, who attends many Youth 2000 retreats.

Gleber said he is hoping on an attendance of 300-400 young people, saying response has been very good so far.

"It should be a pretty powerful experience," he said. In addition to the retreat, an all-night adoration is planned for adults in the parish who want to pray for the young people, according to organizer Carol Martinolich.

Meals during the weekend will be provided by the local Knights of Columbus.

Registration is still open and information can be obtained by calling 467-6509 or 467-7109.

Pullman at odds with Cablevision

BY ED LEPOMA

A year after his request, District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman is still trying to get Cablevision to provide Pearlinton residents access to WLOX-Channel 13.

Pullman first made the pitch in October of 1996, and Todd Beauchamp, Cablevision's director of sales and marketing at company headquarters in Gulf Breeze, Florida, promised to look into the situation.

Pullman said he thought the federal government's "Must Carry" regulations required local cable companies to furnish customers with local news and programs. Beauchamp said, at that time, "There are a lot of technical agreements attached to the federal legislation."

Pearlington cable residents still only have access to New Orleans channels and New Orleans news stations, but last November Cablevision connected them to WUPL, an independent Paramount-affiliated station out of Slidell.

Pullman asked county attorney Gerald Gex what can supervisors do to require Cablevision to provide Pearlinton and other parts of the county with WLOX, if they don't have access to it now.

"Can we sue them? What can we do to tighten down on these people?" Pullman asked.

"We can find out when their franchise comes up," said Gex. "Then, we can decide whether to renew it."

Supervisors voted to send the request in the form of another resolution to Cablevision.

Pass surplus

Pass Christian Mayor Billy McDonald and other city officials are beaming following reports from the a recent audit of city books.

City Comptroller Tammy DiLorenzo said auditors recently completed going over the city's books for the period ending Sept. 30, 1996, and the city was found to have a $486,000 surplus in the general fund.

"They also commented that everyone was very helpful and very cooperative, and got them what they needed in a timely fashion," said DiLorenzo.

The situation represents a turnaround since 1994 when the city had only a $52,000 surplus and was being watched over by the state auditor's office.

DiLorenzo said auditors haven't begun to pore over the 1997 books, "but our unaudited record show we will end last year with a surplus of $970,000."

Under a contract, the city uses the firm of Wright, Ward, Hatten and Guel.

Slower trains called for

BY ED LEPOMA

District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman wants to put the brakes on trains running at high speeds through Hancock County.

At Monday's meeting, Pullman mentioned that news reports said an Amtrak that hit and killed 73-year-old Dorothy Elkins of Waveland at the Coleman Avenue crossing was estimated to be traveling at 75 miles per hour.

"If a train is going to come through at that speed they (the railroads) need to put up arms at the crossings," said Pullman.

He persuaded supervisors to pass a resolution asking the Interstate Commerce Commission and the state and federal Departments of Transportation to put some kind of speed limit on passenger and freight trains coming through Hancock County.

Harvest Ball set

Friday, Nov. 14, is the date of the American Legion Auction.

The local fund raiser is for the Mississippi Firefighters Memorial Burn Center in Greenville, reported Unit chairman Frances Graves. Firefighters from both the Bay St. Louis and Waveland fire departments are assisting.

Due to a concerted effort, which began in December of 1975 on the part of the Mississippi Firefighters Association, Delta Regional Medical Center, the State of Mississippi, counties, businesses, industries and many other social and fraternal organizations such as the American Legion and individuals, in January of 1982, the Burn Center became a reality.

As of March, 1996, in excess of 2,500 patients have been admitted to the Burn Center and in excess of 3,000 have been treated. Patients have come from over 76 Mississippi counties and over 12 states.

The Burn Center has an open door admission policy. Patients are admitted by physician referral only and on a space available basis without regard to race, creed, color, sex, religion, national origin or ability to pay.

The Mississippi Firefighters Memorial Burn Center is a Mississippi facility that has earned great respect and an outstanding reputation. The Mississippi Burn Center ranks just below the Shriners Children's Hospital but treats adults and children alike.

However, the Burn Center can only continue to exist with help.

If you would like to know more about the Burn Center and ways you can help, Sandy Johnson, executive director of the Burn Center, a retired fireman, will be the guest at the Harvest Ball.

Meetings Thursday

Hancock County's Board of Supervisors has scheduled a recess meeting for 9 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 13.

At that time, supervisors will hold a public hearing on a petition to change the name of the Fenton-Sandhill Cemetery.

C.J. Malley has presented supervisors with a petition signed by at least 65 residents of the community supporting his motion to rename the cemetery the Alphonse Malley Memorial Cemetery in honor of his father who donated the land. Malley died in 1962, and the cemetery plots remain available free to neighbors.

Following regular business, supervisors have tentatively scheduled a 2 p.m. workshop with the Hancock County Sand Beach Committee, followed by another workshop with officials of the two cities, Humane Society leaders and others who are supporting a larger animal shelter in Hancock County.

A.A. (Dolph) Kellar

On Friday Alton A. (Dolph) Kellar was laid to rest in Turtleskin Cemetery.

Kellar's name has been associated with politics in Hancock County for some 40 years. Kellar first served as a school board member, then on the board of supervisors.

Kellar was not just known in Hancock County, but across the state, as he served many years as president of his county's supervisors and was active in the state association.

He was a longtime resident of Hancock County, even with the relocation of his residence to the Flat Top area following the uprooting of his family by construction of Stennis Space Center.

Kellar started serving the people of Hancock County and also his country as a member of the Armed Forces during World War II.

He joined the United States Army and was awarded two Purple Hearts for valor in the Philippines and in New Guinea.

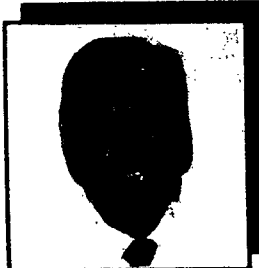

Kellar's tenure in Hancock County covered a lot of major hurdles, such as the development of the test site, Stennis Airpark, Port Bienville Industrial Park and the recovery from the greatest disasters ever to strike this area, Hurricane Camille in 1969.

He knew the laws that supervisors govern by inside and out, knew what could and could not be done.

A side of Kellar, which many may not have known about, is that over the years his home was always open to relatives and friends.

Family was very important to Kellar. He and Mrs. Kellar recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, and he was close to his two sons, three daughters, and of course grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

To his wife, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, Dolph Kellar will long be remembered for his many contributions to Hancock County.

BAY VIEWS

By Ed Lepoma

Mike Ladner remembered

I have joined the Echo staff only a few days when I was thrown into a meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors. I knew no one, but first was greeted in the courtroom meeting room and welcomed aboard by the Sun-Herald's reporter, Nan Patton Ehrbright.

The five supervisors were milling around behind the dais waiting for the meeting to begin. I took a deep breath, checked out my suit, then approached the area.

A big hand attached to a big man stretched out to greet me. "I'm Mike Ladner," he said. He looked even bigger since the platform where supervisors are seated is raised.

"Welcome to Bay St. Louis," Ladner told me. "If you need to know anything, just ask."

In the brief five months remaining that Ladner served as President of the Board, I took him up on the offer many times. He and Adolph "Dolph" Kellar were fonts for information and background on almost any subject. Neither embellished any facts to promote any hidden agenda.

And, now they're both gone. They died within hours of each other last Wednesday. Kellar succumbed to cancer and Ladner of an apparent heart attack at his home. He had a long history of heart trouble, but it was a shock to me and to most everyone in the community who knew him.

The dual deaths were a double jolt to former Chancery Court Clerk Mike Necaise, who worked closely with both men.

Necaise said he telephoned Ladner at his DeMontluzin apartment two or three nights ago and Ladner visited him at his farm off Hwy. 603 about a month ago.

"It doesn't seem real that he's gone. I'm gonna miss him. I can't believe my big buddy's gone," Necaise said. "He was the best-hearted person I've ever known."

Many of the supervisors used to go en masse to Carole's Old Towne Restaurant on Main Street during breaks in the monthly meeting, but Necaise and Ladner would often lunch there together two and three times a week.

Co-owners Carol Ripley and Mary Woodson were among others in shock by Ladner's untimely demise.

"Big Mike always had a hug for us when he came through the door," said Ripley. "I saw him driving to the bank Monday, and he waved at me. In all the time I knew him, I never heard him say an angry word about anybody."

Woodson was fighting back tears, remembering how helpful Ladner was during the early formation of Hope Haven, Hancock County's home for abused and neglected children.

"He served on the steering committee," she said. "He helped us when we couldn't even buy stamps. He helped steer us in the right direction after we got organized," she said. "I'm going to miss him."

Because we both lived downtown, I often ran into Ladner in the restaurants or other downtown spots after voters turned him out of office in 1996. He never seemed bitter about losing his run for a third term, but you could tell he was hurt.

"He wasn't bitter, but he was discouraged," said Necaise. "He had a lot more he wanted to accomplish for Hancock County. Mike was a person that really enjoyed his job. He really tried to do a good job, and he worked for the good of the entire county. He was truly a team player. He never tried to get one project for one area at the expense of another. If it was good for Hancock County, he didn't care where it was."

Necaise said Ladner put in a lot of leg work and lobbied the Congressional delegation tirelessly for a Post Office to be located in the Kiln Community.

"That is one of his legacies," said Necaise. "But, even before he was a supervisor, he worked tirelessly for local veterans and helped I don't know how many people."

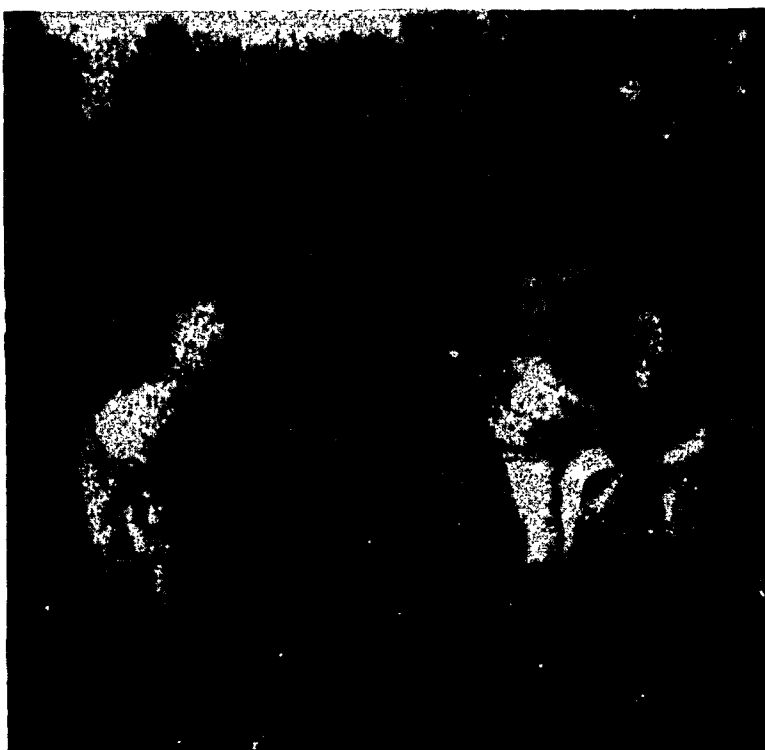

Howard Lizana, another supervisor who served with Ladner and Kellar, said he had visited Kellar the Friday before he died. Lizana said Kellar was diagnosed with cancer a week before doctor's told him he also had cancer.

Lizana said he went to the courthouse Thursday and learned that Ladner was found dead at home.

"I was shocked. I couldn't believe it. I really enjoyed serving with both of them," said Lizana.

Less than a month ago, I was on assignment up in Kiln and decided to treat myself to lunch at Rooster's. I was seated alone at a table in the front room

Kiln football stars

The year was 1956 when this photo was taken of Howard Lizana, left, and Larry C. Ladner, members of the Kiln Consolidated School. The team scored a total of one touchdown for the season, according to Lizana who played left end at a weight of 128 pounds. He said the team had a total of 13 members. Recently Ladner, of Necaise Crossing, brought Lizana a mess of mullets, and he brought out the old photo from school days at the Kiln. It was the last year for football at the Kiln Consolidated School. Kiln Consolidated later combined with Sellers and Dedeaux to form Hancock North Central. "CUEVAS" QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was good this week to see Bay St. Louis crews working on the median from the bridge to Carroll.

As most of you know, city crews have been unable to work on the median since a contractor has been upgrading the roadway. Workers are not finished the project yet, but apparently have taken another break.

Ron Vanney, city superintendent, said the crews used weed eaters to clear the heavy growth. The contractor still has to level and remove the rocks from the median, etc.

Both the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland's grounds crews do a fine job in maintaining the Highway 90's median.

Many of us will be happy when the upgrading of Highway 90 is completed.

There is still some serious concern by motorists about the signal lights at such locations as Dunbar in the Bay and McLaurin in Waveland on Highway 90. The removal of the turning arrow for motorist traveling west wanting to make a left turn is the big concern.

Hopefully another traffic survey will help to correct this problem.

Once again, it is the time of year when our veterans are honored.

On Tuesday, Nov. 11, Veterans Day will be celebrated across America.

The Bay St. Louis and Waveland American Legion Posts over the past several years have come together to present a program.

This year's event will be held at the Bay Legion Post Home on Green Meadow Road beginning at 10 a.m.

There will be an open house at the post with a concert by the Bay High Band, and Gen. Wallace Farragut, retired, will be the guest speaker.

The Veterans Day program chairman is Clayton Thompson. The public is invited and urged to attend.

In addition to refreshments, fried catfish, baked beans and potato salad will follow the program.

Support your veterans. They are the reason we today have the freedoms we have in America.

I hope to see you at the Veterans Day program.

Deliveries of new telephone directories are scheduled to begin along the Mississippi Coast tomorrow.

In conjunction with the new directories, a drive will be underway for the collection of the old ones by area students.

Students from public and private schools will canvass the area collecting the outdated telephone directories.

Last year, a total of $3,700 was divided among 10 schools in Hancock County according to the number of directories collected.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and BellSouth are among the sponsors of the drive along the Coast, which by the way is the largest in the state of Mississippi.

Last year some 170 tons of telephone directories were collected. That is a saving of thousands of trees, because the old books are recycled.

Fastway Systems Warehouse in Gulfport plays an important role, because they handle the shipping at no cost for the project.

I wish all the schools the best in the telephone book recycling campaign.

Remember, the students benefit from those little extras which can be purchased with the monies the schools receive for the outdated telephone directories.

Vets home care for those who cared for freedom

The people of the United States always have held a tradition, mandated by law, that those who serve our country in the Armed Forces, especially in time of war, shall receive consideration and care when they are in need.

While Veterans Affairs (VA) hospitals fulfill the needs of acutely ill or injured veterans, a different type of facility is needed for aging and chronically disabled veterans.

The Mississippi State Veterans Affairs Board is extending this special kind of care through a partnership with the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and private industry.

With funds provided by both state and federal governments, three new homes have been established in Collins, Kosciusko and Oxford. These skilled nursing and domiciliary care facilities have been built specifically to serve the men and women veterans who live in Mississippi.

These facilities offer trained specialists in a variety of healthcare disciplines the latest in medical technology and equipment, full support services on-site, and access to nearby amenities — all combined to create a pleasant and complete living environment.

These homes are also in existence largely due to the efforts of great individuals like the Honorable G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery and our legislative leaders in both Mississippi and Washington and the leadership of our volunteer veterans organizations in the state.

Through the State Veterans Affairs Board, each Mississippi Veterans Home employs a licensed medical doctor and primary care physician. Experienced in long-term care, these physicians provide admittance and annual physical examinations and visit residents regularly to ensure their well-being. They provide care to all residents; however, veterans also may choose a private physician at their own expense.

A licensed nursing staff at each home, supervised by a registered nurse, serves residents 24 hours a day. Nursing personnel offer a broad range of experience, with particular emphasis on gerontological and rehabilitative services.

To improve and maintain maximum functioning of each veteran, the homes offer occupational, physical and speech therapy as well as hearing diagnostic services. Services are provided on-site by licensed professionals.

Through the State Veterans Affairs Board, the Mississippi Veterans Home provide all medication required by residents. Licensed pharmacists visit the homes periodically to review drug regimens and to counsel residents on medication usage. A pharmacy committee meets quarterly to ensure safe and appropriate administration of all pharmaceuticals.

Staff at the Mississippi Veterans Homes strives to provide a "home-like" environment for their veterans. A full range of daily living services is available to make each day a pleasant and productive one.

Other services include recreational activities, social services department, registered dietitians, transportation to community activities, including appointments at Veterans Affairs Medical Centers and in an emergency, ambulance service is provided to a nearby hospital.

To be admitted to one of the Mississippi Veterans Homes, a veteran must be or have been a Mississippi resident, have had active duty in the Armed Forces and have been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions.

Applications for admission to the homes may be obtained from the State Veterans Affairs Board, and for an application call 601-354-7377.

The homes establish a daily rate, a portion of which is covered by the Veterans Affairs per diem payment. The balance is paid by the veterans or by their families or from available funding sources, such as military or civilian retirement, VA compensation, Social Security, non-service connected pension or personal funds.

The three new homes opened in Collins, Kosciusko and Oxford this past year are nearly full. The home in Jackson that opened almost a decade ago maintains a full occupancy with a healthy waiting list.

These are some of the finest veterans long-term care homes in the country and are setting the example for states like Oregon, Texas and others. They are striving to be like Mississippi, where we understand that freedom is not really free and where we truly care for those who cared for freedom.

By Geoffrey Yoste, who is responsible for all long-term care marketing for PHP Healthcare Corporation, the healthcare service provider for Mississippi Veterans Home.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Joseph Francis Jr. dead at 73? It sounded like an oxymoron to hear Joe and dead put together. If you thought nothing else when you saw or heard Joe, you thought of someone with a zest for life and a verve for life's issues.

"I have never wanted to preach a sermon as much as I wanted to preach this one!" Joe shouted in 1992 at the Mass of Celebration for the Sisters of the Holy Family sesquicentennial. "Never have so few done so much with so little!"

Typically Joe, one could see that he wanted it so badly that he could smell it, taste it, breathe it. After all, it was those zealous sisters who had taught him from his earliest years at Immaculate Heart school in Lafayette, La.

Since it was also the Divine Word Missionary brothers and fathers who nourished him with the Good News at Immaculate Heart Church, he felt called to study the same Good News at Divine Word Seminary in Bay St. Louis in 1937.

A livewire from Jump Street in the seminary, teen-aged Joe would later say: "I picture heaven as eternal Wednesday order," referring to freedom from study and freedom to play from 3:30 Wednesday afternoons to 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

Amid the heaven of Wednesday order with its ball games, hikes and occasional movie, Joe found time to immerse himself in the disciplines of high school. Early on, he also developed a taste for the stories of black heroines and heroes.

His interest in things African-American grew by leaps and bounds with the surge of black writers, entertainers, civil rights activists and, finally, Jackie Robinson et al, who added dash and flavor to sports, one of his special loves.

As if it happened yesterday, I recall batting against Joe in a pick-up baseball game when I was all of 21. He was a sidearm, low-ball pitcher and I was a good low-ball hitter. Wistfully, I remember getting good wood on one pitch only.

Competitor he always was, and that carried over into his apostolate of spreading the Good News. During his final years before ordination, his interest in things African-American, now fiery, could have carried him into the civil rights war.

However, the opportunity, the timing was not there to propel him toward a Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. type of activity. The latent warrior was obvious in his choice of conversations, his readings and his selection of role models.

An educator in Los Angeles, he founded the very successful Verbum Dei high school in the notorious Watts area in 1964 which gave many inner-city youths a quality education.

As provincial superior of the Divine Word Missionaries' western province, and later of the southern province, Joe became a force in religious circles, a benign agitator in human rights matters and a world traveler.

Ten years after Harold Ferry became the first black Catholic bishop of this century in the United States, Joe was ordained a bishop in 1976 and appointed auxiliary in Newark.

As chairman of the U.S. Catholic Bishops' committee on racism, he spearheaded a pastoral letter titled, "Brothers and Sisters To Us." The predominantly white male U.S. hierarchy had never issued such a racial/ethnic document before.

Ever articulate and able, he would have surely been the first African-American Catholic bishop with his own diocese, but for heart disease. Now Joe has finally come to experience the eternal Wednesday order; by his own definition, heaven.

Minorities' happy warrior

Telephone book recycling set

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is launching the telephone book recycling program to collect used telephone directories.

The program will be held during the delivery of the new Mississippi Gulf Coast BellSouth directories from Nov. 10-Dec. 12.

Last year was a very successful program. The coastal counties collected more than 173 tons, which was a marked increase over the previous year's collection.

Area schools will be collecting old directories to raise money for their schools.

Last year Hancock County had a wonderful participation within area schools. The prize pool for the schools comes from contributions from area businesses who support this effort.

The money is split among the participating schools based on the number of books they collect.

Cindy Vernon, executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, noted that the common goal of this public/private partnership is to educate the public on the importance of recycling.

"We have the common goal of diverting paper directories from our landfills, preserving our national resources, and saving our citizens tax dollars. These directories can be recycled into such things as insulation, paper egg cartons, ceiling tile, and corrugated boxes."

Vernon said, "Every ton of phone books recycled saves about 3.5 cubic yards of landfill space."

Vernon continued, "The educational benefits, the cost reduction, the community involvement, the public/private partnerships, the savings of resources and landfill space will all contribute to a brighter, safer environmental future for Hancock County. It's the right thing to do."

For information, contact the Chamber at 467-9048.

Destination: Democracy —
A salute to public officials

"Destination: Democracy — A Salute to Our Public Officials" is the Kids Voting Mississippi fund raiser scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 11.

The benefit will be held at the Grand Casino Hotel in Biloxi with the reception beginning at 6 p.m., followed by the dinner program at 7 p.m.

This year's event will recognize the elected public officials from the Harrison County Board of Supervisors, the cities of Biloxi, Gulfport, d'Iberville, Pass Christian and Long Beach.

The "political convention" dinner program will be highlighted with a "view into Washington politics" by guest speaker Cokie Roberts of ABC News "This Week" and "Nightline."

Community- and school-based Kids Voting is unique, virtually replicating the official voting process for youth students go to official polling sites on election day, accompanied by parent or guardian to cast their own ballot in their own voting booth. High school students vote independently. Results are reported just as official results are.

Kids Voting is the only program in which election day attitudes and actions of youth and parents are actually affected. Communities with Kids Voting in place see adult voter turnout increase by 5 percent to 10 percent. In 1996, that translated (at 5 percent) into more than 600,000 adult voters who credit Kids Voting as a reason for voting.

Kids Voting began 10 years ago and has spread to 40 states and the District of Columbia. Currently, 4.5 million students enjoy participating in the program.

• (On his weekend)

"Yeah, I went to Florida. You can't have fun when you've got so much on your mind."

• (On who will start at quarterback)

"We'll start Heath (Shuler) in the game, and if things don't go right we will put Doug (Nussmeier) in there, there is no question. Right now starting off will be Heath, and Doug will be ready to go, there is no question about it. I feel very confident right now if something doesn't work out and we have to make a change or if there is an injury we'll put Doug in there and Danny (Wuerffel) will be ready to go also. Danny will be the third quarterback this week, but that doesn't mean it is permanent. It doesn't mean that it will be that way next week. I don't know right now. I am trying to find a way to get a win right now."

• (On if time off helps)

"I don't go by time away. I can't say that. I don't know. We had a long talk this morning about the mind-set of this football team — where we were coming out of training camp and where we are now. We have got to go back to where we were. We've got to go back to believing in ourselves and who we are and what we do. We've got good enough people to do it. It is going to come down to making plays."

• (On Shuler's attitude)

"Heath has been great. Danny has been great. Doug has been great all year. I haven't seen anybody get down in the dumps about things. When things aren't going good, listen fellas, anybody can get down. I get down. It bothers me. I don't like it. Coaches don't like it, players don't like it, my owner doesn't like it, nobody likes it. It is no fun."

• (On if it is a gut feeling to start Shuler)

"I don't even think it is that. I think right now — and I will be honest with you — I felt right at this point I thought it would be better to bring Doug off the bench. That is what I felt at this point. Does that make me right? No, but it makes me make this decision based on that I think he will be a little more comfortable coming off the bench."

• (On the Saints are catching the Raiders at a good time)

"I don't care. I really don't care. The Raiders have their problems. We have our problems. The Raiders are trying to win a football game just like we are. We are like a lot of other teams in this league that are struggling right now. We are trying to find out who we are, so are they. They have a great offense. They have a lot of great football players. Defensively, they are talented, but they've given up a lot of points. I don't know what they're doing."

• (On if it helps Shuler to take a step back the last few weeks)

"I would assume anybody in that position, in any line of work, when things aren't going good and you have the opportunity to step back and look at it objectively — look at yourself objectively — I think you can learn from that. Now, what you learn you have to translate that into what you do on the field on Sunday."

• (On if the players were pressing)

"I don't think there is any question. When things are going bad, everything is magnified. Players say I'm afraid if I make a mistake, coaches are going to take me out. Well, what should I do if you make a mistake. If you continue to make mistakes what are you going to do? That is why we are coaches. We have got to look at somebody else if it is constantly going to be that way. But the thing what has happened to us isn't one guy. We've been scattershot."

• (On if Shuler represents the bet chance for the team to win)

"Right now it does. I think that gives us the best opportunity. If things don't work out we have two other guys to come off the bench who will be ready to play."

• (On Al Davis)

"I love Al Davis. Al Davis has done great things for this league. I have no problem with Al Davis."

• (On what areas of offense the Saints are working on)

"Line play basically, running the ball, pass protection. We are trying to get better in those areas. Have we? I don't know."

Bay High downs SSC for first win

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The St. Stanislaus/Bay High football rivalry was renewed in vintage fashion on Friday night at the Joe D. McCullough Field. It was a showcase of two excellent running backs in Bay High's Tony Benton and SSC's Kris Canon.

The Tigers won the Crab Trap trophy and the traditional bragging rights of the city for the year with a 28-14 win over the Rocks.

Bay High rushed to victory behind the nifty running of Benton who had 231 yards on 16 carries. Benton would have had more yards but numerous Tiger penalties negated some of his rushes.

Bay High tallied 143 yards on 15 penalties.

Canon had 266 yards on 37 carries, both SSC single game records. He set another school record with 305 all-purpose yards.

"(Benton) is super quick and has breakaway speed," Bay High coach David Baughman said after his first win at Bay High. "(Benton) and Tyree Haynes ran hard all night. We knew the SSC defense pursued hard up the field and our weakside counter play worked well for us tonight."

Bay High won the toss and deferred to the second half. The Rocks tried to establish the passing game with the first play from scrimmage but the pass was incomplete. Canon gained six yards on the following play but the drive stalled. The Rocks punted away.

Benton did not take long to make his presence known. He took the handoff on the Tigers' first play and raced 36 yards for a first down before being brought down by SSC's Steven Knight. Benton followed with a 21-yard gain but a Tiger penalty negated the gain. Three plays later, Bay High quarterback Tank Williams ran around the end for a 16-yard touchdown. George Piazza missed the PAT and the score remained 6-0.

The Rocks could not more on their ensuing possession and were forced to punt. Benton took the handoff on the first play and gained 27 yards on a 14-yard line. Canon handled the ball each time on their opening drive. He gained six, one, eight, and nine yards for SSC. On the next play, Canon carried for 33 yards and the first score of the second half. The PAT by Philippe Michel was good and the score was 15-7.

"(Canon) has played really well the last three games," Kenson said.

It took SSC just three plays to score on its next possessions. Canon broke around the end and ran for 67 yards for the score at the 3:52 mark of the third quarter. Michel's PAT was good and the score was 15-14.

"We were prepared for them to throw a lot more and we were concentrating on (Rock tight end Stephen Peterman)," Baughman said. "We put a line-backer on him which opened up the middle for (Canon). (Stanislaus) ran the ball a lot more than we thought they would."

After the ensuing kickoff, Benton took his usual place in the Tiger backfield. He was thrown for a one-yard loss by Stephen Knight on the first play of the drive.

On the next play, Benton gained 41 yards and a Tiger first down. Two plays later he rushed for 20 yards and another first down. On the next play, Benton ended the drive with a 16-yard scoring run at the :55 mark of the third quarter. Benton left the game with a leg injury after the touchdown. Piazza's PAT was blocked by Knight and the score remained 21-14.

On the ensuing kickoff, SSC's Trey Moses took the ball at the Rock 13 yardline and returned it to the 29 yardline where Bay High's Rendell Haynes forced a fumble that was recovered by Bay High at the Rock 35. Piazza recovered the fumble for the Tigers.

With Benton on the sidelines, the Tigers mounted a nine-play scoring drive. Williams scored from one-yard out with 8:01 left in the ballgame. Piazza's PAT made the score was 28-14.

"The difference in the game was that we played two quarters and they played four," Kenson said. "We came out with momentum in the second half and scored twice quickly. But the mistakes down the stretch cost us."

Baughman said his staff "challenged the kids all week and they responded. Tonight we overcame a lot of penalties to win the ballgame."

Williams went back to the passing game and hit Ronald Brown for a 15-yard pick-up. After two minimal gains by Williams, Bay High lined up for a 25-yard field goal at the end of the first half. Piazza connected on the attempt making the score 15-0 at the half.

"Bay High didn't do anything that we were not expecting," Kenson said. "We thought we had a scheme to contain their speed. But even when we had guys there, we didn't do a good job of tackling."

The Tigers opened the second half on offense but had to punt the ball away after a quarter-back sack by SSC's Jed Bishop. The Rocks took over on their own 4-yard line. Canon handcarries. "The box offense is a good offense," said Gaudin, who experimented with the scheme one year during spring practice while he was still at Bay High.

"We used our basic offense, playing man to man," he added. "Nobody has stopped them all year. (Franklin) is a good player. We had to stop him."

Hancock answered Columbia's opening drive with a six-play, 78-yard drive that ended on Shirah's 21-yard run that gave Hancock a 6-0 lead with 3:14 left in the first quarter.

The Hawks took a 12-0 lead when John Woods blocked a Michael Bradshaw punt and returned it 32 yards with 6:38 left in the quarter.

"Whenever we run that play in practice, overloading to the right," we can't get a punt off," Gaudin said. "(Woods) was finally able to get through."

Hancock increased the lead to 20-0 with 3:15 remaining on Williams' one-yard run. The play capped a six-play, 64-yard drive.

Franklin's 60-yard run one play after a Hancock fumble cut the Hawk lead to 20-7 with 6:23 left in the third period.

Hawks take control early in 26-13 win

BY RICHARD MEEK

Hancock High's seniors said goodbye to their fans in pre-game ceremonies on Friday night, then gave a farewell performance to remember.

The Hawks raced to a 20-0 lead and coasted to a 26-13 victory over visiting Columbia as both teams closed out their regular seasons. Hancock recorded its second consecutive eight-win season without earning a playoff berth. The Hawks, 16-5 over the last two regular seasons, will face Greene County in the Shrimp Bowl next Saturday in Biloxi.

"I'm proud of what we have done," Hancock coach Rocky Gaudin said. "We just have to work a little harder."

Darryel Williams led the Hawks with 214 yards on 17 carries, and two touchdowns. Lee Shirah had 64 yards on 11 carries and one touchdown.

But it was the Hancock defense sparking the Hawks by shutting down Columbia's potent box offense, a scheme once made famous by Notre Dame and seldom seen today. The formation has the quarterback lined up in a formation similar to the modern shotgun, and he is flanked by one or two backs. An additional blocking back stands behind one of the offensive guards.

It appeared as though the Wildcats offense may enjoy some success against the Hawk defense. On the game's first play, Hawk quarterback DeShonzo Franklin, who wore three different jerseys during the game, scampered 70 yards for an apparent touchdown. But a clip nullified the score.

The Wildcats, who finished 4-6, 4-3, drove inside the Hawk 20 but eventually were stopped when Michael Bradshaw missed a 38-yard field goal attempt.

From that point until late in the game, Columbia was stymied. After the opening drive, the Wildcats were held to one first down the rest of the half, and minus 32 yards in the second quarter. At one point, Franklin, who later scored on runs of 60 and eight yards, had a combined 43 yards on five straight carries. "The box offense is a good offense," said Gaudin, who experimented with the scheme one year during spring practice while he was still at Bay High.

"We used our basic offense, playing man to man," he added. "Nobody has stopped them all year. (Franklin) is a good player. We had to stop him."

Hancock answered Columbia's opening drive with a six-play, 78-yard drive that ended on Shirah's 21-yard run that gave Hancock a 6-0 lead with 3:14 left in the first quarter.

The Hawks took a 12-0 lead when John Woods blocked a Michael Bradshaw punt and returned it 32 yards with 6:38 left in the quarter.

"Whenever we run that play in practice, overloading to the right," we can't get a punt off," Gaudin said. "(Woods) was finally able to get through."

Hancock increased the lead to 20-0 with 3:15 remaining on Williams' one-yard run. The play capped a six-play, 64-yard drive.

Franklin's 60-yard run one play after a Hancock fumble cut the Hawk lead to 20-7 with 6:23 left in the third period.

GCRL releases tagged bass in project

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory fisheries biologists began the process of tagging and releasing more than 16,000 striped bass into Mississippi waters Thursday as part of a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sportfish restoration project, project leader Larry Nicholson said.

The program at GCRL is supported by the National Marine Fisheries Service through the Anadromous Fish Act. GCRL biologists have reared and released more than 13 million of the non-hybrid striped bass juveniles that grow into adults prized by anglers for size, fighting spirit and good eating, Nicholson said.

Personnel with GCRL's striped bass program will spend their mornings for about two weeks harvesting the six-inch fish out of aquaculture tanks, tagging them and placing them in a specially designed tank for transport to one of seven release sites in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

In the afternoon they haul the tank loaded with 1,000 to 2,000 of the fish to selected boat launch sites and release the fish.

First on the schedule this year is a site on Pear River, Nicholson said. Other sites for release include the Tchoutacabouffa at Poppo's Ferry and in the Cedar Lake area, two Fort Bayou sites in Ocean Springs and two sites on the Pascagoula River.

When anglers call in information on the striper they catch, it helps researchers check the effect of the restoration program.

"We've been getting a lot of tags back in lately," Nicholson said.

Suuni Carrington of Kiln, a karate student at the Gulf Coast Shotokan Karate of Waveland, recently took first place in Weapons and Kata in the Jr. Olympics held at Charlotte, N.C. This past summer, Carrington took first place in Disney World in Orlando, which was the first Karate championship held on the Disney property and was the largest AAU national competition ever, her coach Rannie Ladner reports. Ladner has trained several National and Jr. Olympic champions from the Gulf Coast area, but very few have won two prestigious awards in one year, such as Nationals and Jr. Olympics.

10A-THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1997

Think positive when others sell

The chief problem with investors is not money, but self.

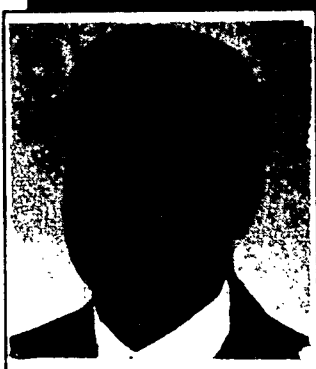

This is the thought of Benjamin Graham, one of the legends of investing. To win in the stock market, he said, you not only must create a solid financial plan, you also must stick with it. That second part is where the "self" comes in and can cause problems.

When the market is going up in giant leaps, it's easy to stick with your investment plan. What it starts down, however, some investors become their own enemies. Many abandon financial plans, dump good stocks and mutual funds, and run for the door.

To help you avoid the panic pitfall, heed the following suggestions.

First, keep in mind that it is a market of stocks, not a stock market. Forget about indexes, predictions and daily fluctuations, and instead focus on identifying and sticking with good businesses. These are the companies that will continue to grow and adjust to economic conditions. In the event of a market correction, these companies are the ones most likely to recover and march on to new highs.

Another investing expert, Warren Buffett, says the market is not a factor in his decision-making. "If somebody handed me a prediction by the most revered intellectual on the subject, with figures for unemployment or interest rates, or whatever it might be for the next two years, we would not pay any attention to it," he says in the book "Warren Buffett Speaks: Wit

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Submitted by Craig Foster
Edward Jones Co.

and Wisdom from the World's Greatest Investor," compiled by Janet Lowe. Instead, Buffett focuses on well-managed companies that are priced right.

If it makes sense to buy good stocks, it also makes sense to hold on to them. History shows that the price of a stock is linked to the earnings of the company. The market is only a short-term measure of what someone is willing to pay for that company's stock at a particular time. In an iffy market, this price can be based on nothing more than emotions. Over the long term, however, stock prices follow profits. So if the price drops, yet profits remain strong, intelligent investors buy rather than sell. There are only three basic reasons to sell a stock: when a stock has reached its full potential, to correct a mistake, or to readjust your portfolio due to changing objectives.

Common stocks historically have been one of the most profitable investments. With an average return of about 10.5 percent over the past 50 years, common stocks have doubled a patient investor's money about every seven years. There are no guarantees that this will continue, but as long as there are good companies making profits, the odds are on our side.

If you're still squeamish about holding stocks for the long term, add quality bonds to your portfolio. Although bonds have traditionally returned about four percentage points less than common stocks, that's still a lot better than stuffing your money in a mattress. If you're in a high tax bracket, consider tax-free bonds. A 6 percent tax-free return could be worth more than 8 percent on a taxable investment.

Intelligent investors know that trees don't grow to the sky — the stock market will not always go up. But they also know that high-quality companies will reward them over the long term. Positive thinking like this is what gets them through short-term declines.

Museum, bank to feature Morgan Whitney photographs

The Morgan and Whitney families have contributed to the business lore of Louisiana for more than a century. Their accomplishments in business, transportation and banking are well documented. What is not so well known outside New Orleans is that one of their own, Morgan Whitney, was one of the century's first serious photographers as well as an art collector and European traveler.

Beginning Nov. 14, the Louisiana State Museum will host an exhibit of Morgan Whitney's 20th century Louisiana photographs at the Presbytere on Jackson Square in New Orleans. The Whitney will host a concurrent exhibit in its historic downtown lobby on St. Charles Avenue in New Orleans.

The prints in the two exhibits were made from photographs in the collection of John and Laura Williams. John Williams is a New Orleans architect who has worked on many restoration projects in downtown New Orleans and the French Quarter, where he has been known to refer to Morgan Whitney's photographs as reference points for architectural detail.

Laura Williams is a descendant of Morgan Whitney's older brother, George Q. Whitney. George, along with his brother Charles Morgan Whitney and mother, Marie Louise Morgan Whitney, founded Whitney National Bank in 1883. Marie Morgan Whitney was the daughter of Commodore Charles Morgan, a classic 19th century entrepreneur who made a fortune in steamships and railroads, and for whom Morgan City was named in 1876.

Morgan Whitney was born in 1869 and lived in New Orleans, although he was a frequent traveler to New York and Paris. He studied at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris and showed considerable talent as a painter. He also collected Chinese jade and bequeathed his extensive collection to the New Orleans Museum of Art. He died suddenly of an aneurysm in 1913 at age 43.

As a photographer, Whitney particularly enjoyed photographic the flora of Louisiana and the architecture of New Orleans. His photographs of New Orleans buildings and architectural details survive as valuable evidence of an era rarely documented.

Support for Morgan Whitney's Louisiana was made possible by the Whitney National Bank. The exhibit will be on display until March 1.

Whitney Holding corporation, whose stock is traded on the NASDAQ exchange, (WTNY), is the holding company for wholly owned banking subsidiaries in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida.

The Whitney now operates over 100 banking locations in this four state Gulf Coast region including southern Louisiana; the coastal region of Mississippi; Mobile, Montgomery and the Alabama Gulf Coast; and the Pensacola area of Florida. The Whitney, which has been in continuous operation since 1883, currently has assets of approximately $4.2 billion.

Taxpayer Relief Act gives increased tax exemptions

Q. Two and one-half years ago, I moved to Biloxi and bought a house in anticipation of selling my previous home. I have yet to sell the other house and the financial burden of two large mortgages is becoming more than I can juggle. I recently received a very attractive offer from someone who wants to buy my Biloxi home. I am willing to do this but first want to make sure that it won't cause tax problems.

I also will intend to sell the other house at some point. Will selling the one locally affect my taxes if I later find a buyer for the out-of-state house?

A. The good news is that the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 brings some real relief in the area of home sales. The law gives a new tax exemption on profits from selling your primary residence. It exempts up to $250,000 in profit for single taxpayers and up to $500,000 in profit for married couples filing jointly. It went into effect for sales after May 6, 1997.

To receive the exemption you must have owned and used the house as your principal residence for a total of two years during the past five years. Taxpayers can generally take the exemption once every two years. So, if you sell the Biloxi house where you have lived for the past 2 1/2 years, it qualifies for a tax exemption on profit from the sale up to $250,000.

The new rules generally allow for exclusion of gain on a home sale every two years. However, there is an exception that may end up helping if the out-of-state house happens to sell within the next two and one-half years.

It allows a pro-rated portion of the gain on the second sale to be excluded based upon the lesser of 1) the time elapsed since the first sale or 2) the length of time the house was used as a principal residence in the past five years.

If the out-of-state house is used for rental income and you deduct rental expenses, this may also affect your ability to take the exemption. Second homes and rental property don't qualify for the $250,000 ($500,000-MFJ) exemption.

In addition, special rules on recapture of depreciation may affect the total amount of gain to be reported when you eventually sell.

Even if you must pay tax on the gain of the second house, the capital gains tax rate is now lower. The maximum capital gains rate is now 20% for assets held more than 18 months. Those in the 15% income tax bracket, will pay 10%.

TAX VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

One of my favorite volunteer activities is helping elderly and young low-income families with their tax returns. I volunteer in the Ocean Springs area from January through April each year.

For those who are fascinated by the tax code and enjoy helping others, it is a great way to be of service to your community. Right now, we urgently need volunteers to assist the elderly during the 1998 tax season in the Long Beach and Pass Christian area.

The IRS and AARP will provide the tax training and all materials through TCE (Tax Counseling for the Elderly).

For information or to sign up, call Rolf Gruning at 868-7176.

Worker education is the key to future economic growth

ASSOCIATED PRESS

A state economist warns that the record growth of Mississippi's economy will slow significantly, and that current workers need to be educated to raise per capita income in the future.

The introduction of casino gambling in 1992 spurred the growth of the economy so far this decade. State economist Phil Pepper warns that that growth will slow significantly in the years to come.

Pepper told the Mississippi House Ways and Means Committee on Wednesday that that state now needs to look at additional education efforts for the workforce to garner higher-paying industry jobs.

Pepper said that he doesn't see "another site-specific industry," such as gaming, coming along to provide a boost to the economy. He said the only way up for the state is to educate its work force, particularly the 1.3 million people already employed.

The state gained 19,000 new jobs in the 1980s and has gained 153,000 jobs in the 1990s, Pepper said.

"If per capita income is your goal, you can't raise it just by creating jobs," Pepper said.

What you have to do is create high-paying jobs if we really want to make a difference. We've got 1.3 million people out there and we need to raise the wage rate of all those people."

Pepper recommended legislators consider making scholarship money available to older and married workers to upgrade their training or get additional education.

"We need to change the mindset in the state to where going to school at night, even though you're past 21 years old, and taking courses or training is a regular thing to do," Pepper said.

Rep. Charlie Smith, I-Eupora, agreed with Pepper that the emphasis should go to workers already in the work force.

"Of the people that aren't producing, he says don't spend the time so much on them, but worry about and upgrade those people who are producing," Smith said. "If we're going to make an impact on the statistics, it'd be easier with the ones already producing."

Coliseum to host planners meeting

When the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center opens its doors this November in celebration of the 20-year anniversary and grand opening of the new 80,000 square foot expansion, meeting planners and trade show management groups from across the country will be on hand to look over the new facility.

The planners are part of a special three-day familiarization tour co-sponsored by the Mississippi Coast Coliseum, the Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau and several local hotel and casino properties.

The minimum criteria for invitees to the FAM was groups who would require use of the Convention Center and a minimum of 500 hotel rooms.

While some of the groups will be looking at the facility for 1999 dates, most will be interested in booking the facility in 2000 and beyond. The economic impact on the Mississippi Gulf Coast from bookings from these planners over the next few years should exceed $36 million based on the industry average of nearly $1 million in sales per group.

"This is one of the most exciting events we've ever had here at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center in terms of the tremendous future impact this FAM could mean to the Mississippi Gulf Coast," said Bill Holmes, executive director of the facility. "We are now a world class facility, attractive to much larger groups, those who require more convention space and hotel rooms, and who are used to world class service in a world class atmosphere."

The planners are expected to arrive on the Coast Thursday, Nov. 13. While specifics of the FAM are still being determined, the three-day event will include participation in the Convention Center's special VIP Reception and Dedication Ceremonies, the World Class Off Shore Power Boat Championship Races, a hockey game, Coast tours and various other Coast entertainment activities.

The FAM is sponsored by the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center, the Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau, Beau Rivage, Grand Casinos Biloxi and Gulfport, Casino Magic Biloxi and Bay St. Louis, Holiday Inn Hotels of Biloxi/Gulfport, Howard Coaches, Isle of Capri Casino Crowne Plaza Resort, Magnolia Tours and Transportation. President Casino/Broadwater Resort, Treasure Bay Casino & Resort Hotel and ARAMARK.

to a standstill in Hancock County.

At Wednesday's Solid Waste meeting, Tommy Kidd, who represents Waveland Mayor John Mason on the three-member board, had some concerns.

"What bothers me is what has gone into it," (the pits) said Kidd. "I'm a little concerned about rewarding people who have been dumping illegal."

Coward explained that previous DEQ regulations regarding mining and dumping at the pits were less stringent, but when DEQ changed the laws "they (the pit operators) fell through the cracks." She said DEQ should have informed the operators of the stricter regulations, and requested that they file for a Class II permit to accept and bury rubbish.

The District voted to go forward with amending the 20-year plan, after getting the clearances on the sites in writing from DEQ.

Ronnie Artigues, sitting in as counsel to the District, said there would still be hoops to jump through.

If the District and Supervisors agree to amend the plan, they would have to hold a public hearing. Then, the three operators could go forward and file for permits with DEQ.

If site tests show the soil is adequate for a Class II site, the DEQ would then have to hold a public hearing on the four proposals.

The motion to go forward to permit three more Class II sites met heated opposition from Curtis Johnson, who owns a Class I and II rubbish site off Fire Tower Road that is already permitted by DEQ.

Although Johnson admitted to Gex that he still was not in operation and accepting any kind of rubbish, he said, "I strongly object (to adding more sites)."

"I've spent a lot of money doing things right," said Johnson. He said if others were allowed to take in concrete and asphalt, "It would cost me 50 percent of my revenue."

In other action, Sam Bailey of Pearlinton said he is working with a coordinator to stage a recycling day in Pearlinton, tentatively set for Dec. 13. He said it would be similar to one the county held recently in Waveland.

The District gave its blessing, but asked Bailey to come back with a written proposal to see what kinds of monies the District might have to ante up, or find out what monies is left for recycling from a grant the District has received.

The District voted unanimously to elect Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre chairman to replace Favre's representative, Les Fillingame, who has resigned.

Favre presided over the meeting, and the District heard a report from Artigues who said negotiations are continuing on plans to form a Solid Waste Authority, which would take charge of finding land in a buffer zone for a future county landfill/rubbish site.

might have to look elsewhere for a building. Dawsey told the Echo yesterday that he has had someone inspect the premises and was awaiting estimates.

"We might have to look elsewhere, if it's something we can't afford," said Dawsey.

He said a solution might be to have the county sell the property to SentryCare and provide a portion of the sale proceeds to Coastal Family for another facility.

Supervisors have already appropriated $10,000 this year as the county's share toward operating the clinic.

ed more money to operate it.

Bay St. Louis Postmaster Jimmy Moore said service at Diamondhead won't be affected.

"It's just like any other business," said Smith. "If one or 10 people don't show up for work, we adjust." He said until a new contract is let, he will dispatch a person each day to operate the Diamondhead facility. Carriers also run six separate routes delivering mail to Diamondhead residents.

Moore said he didn't know details of the new offer that Smith made to the Post Office, and referred questions on the bid she submitted to Wash Johnson, who handles contract details out of the U.S. Post Office's Southeastern headquarters in Memphis, Tenn. Johnson was not in his office Friday when the Echo called.

Moore said the Post Office most likely would put out a public bid for someone to run the Diamondhead facility "sometime after the first of the year."

"Anyone can bid on it," said Moore. He said operators are also allowed to operate another business, such as a grocery store, on the premises.

"Except, they can't sell liquor," said Moore.

Moore said, under terms of the contract, an operator can run the postal facility "for as long as they want, and they can renegotiate the terms every two years, after giving us 60 days notice. Likewise, we can give the operator 60 days notice if we're not pleased with the level of service," said Moore.

Contract facilities also operate on Main Street in downtown Bay St. Louis and at the Stennis Space Center, but grocery stores and other businesses sell stamps and postal money orders at numerous locations in the area.

Building inspector appointed

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County supervisors have decided to appoint Neil D. Smith as full-time building inspector and zoning code enforcement officer.

Smith was appointed on a part-time basis in mid-September after full-time officer Willie Gavney requested and received an administrative leave of absence.

Supervisors on Monday concurred in Planning Commission recommendations to appoint Smith full time at a yearly salary of $18,000, but no mention was made that the Commission planned to hire a part-time assistant for him.

Smith holds a law degree from Oregon, and in Klamath Falls, he served as zoning hearing officer, handling appeals from citizens for variances and disputes over zoning decisions. He and his wife, Ursula, moved to the Bay area about five years ago.

In a related zoning issue, Charles Alleman, president of Jourdan River Shores subdivision, told supervisors that the present R-1 single-family residential zoning to the area is too restrictive.

Alleman said his association was remiss when the Planning Commission held public hearings before adopting the county's first-ever Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance last January, and should have asked for a less-restrictive R-1A zoning that have been applied to certain portions of Diamondhead.

He said only four remaining lots in the subdivision have the 75-foot front required under R-1 zoning, and owners and buyers of each of the 400 remaining lots

Recall claims supers' trucks

BY ED LEPOMA

Two Hancock County supervisors will have to give up their little red wagons for a day or so.

At Monday's meeting, Board of Supervisors President Phillip Moran and District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour received notices from Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Michigan that their 1997 F-150 Ford trucks were being recalled because of a defect in the transmissions. The supervisors accepted delivery of the bright red trucks just last September, and they were purchased from the local dealer, Henderson Ford, for $15,640 af-would have to come before the Planning Commission for a variance, overwhelming the staff.

Supervisors told Alleman to ask the Planning Commission to amend the zoning ordinance, but that would require a public hearing.

Alleman said property owners would want to maintain restrictive covenants that prohibit townhouses or mobile homes in the subdivision.

ter public bidding.

Ford informed the supervisors the problem exists, "if the transmission cable assembled to the steering column bracket is not fully seated, the transmission shift cable might shift out of the bracket."

That could result in the driver not being able to shift gears or to correctly determine what position the gear is engaged in.

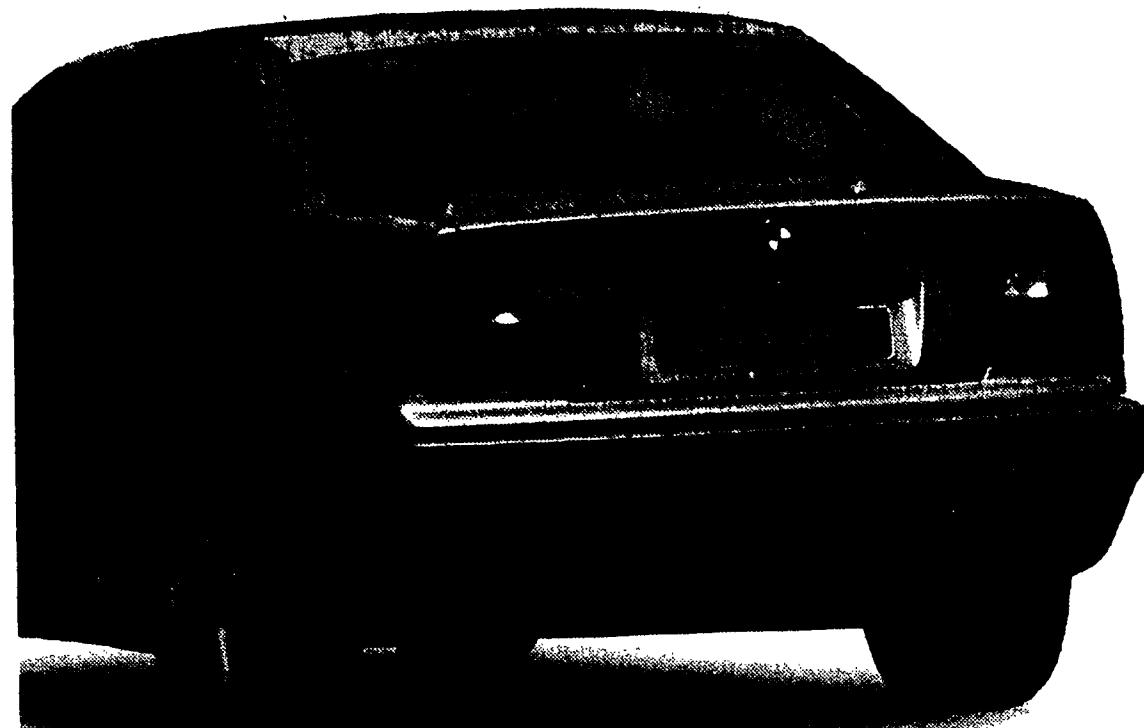

"This condition could lead to unintended vehicle movement in a direction other than indicated on the gear selector or result in vehicle crash," the letter said. It could also prevent the vehicle from being restarted.

Supervisors were advised to call the local dealership to make an appointment for service, and a retention strap would be attached "at no charge to you." They were told the repair should take less than one-half day.

The defect has shown up on the 1997 and 1998 F-150/250 model trucks, and certain 1998 Ford Navigators.

Remember this word: allelopathy. It refers to a plant that produces a toxin to inhibit the growth of other plants nearby and explains the barren spots under your bird feeders. Several of the seeds included in common bird foods are allelopaths. Place your feeder at least six feet away from many plants you would like to thrive.

New housing unveiled by Navy

Naval Construction Battalion Center, Gulfport—in partnership with Carothers Construction—unveiled its state-of-the-art family housing at a ribbon cutting ceremony Oct. 21.

The ceremony marked the completion of the first phase of the $11.6 million Pinewood project which, by the time it's completed next year, will provide two- and three-bedroom housing for 106 families assigned to the Seabee Base.

The sprawling complex—designed by Cromwell Architects Engineers of Little Rock, Ark.—incorporates the latest thinking in residential design, making the most use possible of open space and focusing on many small neighborhood common areas.

Existing family housing at the Gulfport Center was built in the early 1950s when seven officers' quarters were built. In 1975 100 four- and five-bedroom enlisted quarters were added.

The changing economics on the Gulf Coast in 1991 and 1992 had a profound effect on the availability and cost of housing in the area. These developments led to the need for additional housing at the center.

With Congressional approval of the funds, aggressive planning began in 1994 for a design/build project to construct new two- and three-bedroom units at the center. In 1996, the contract was awarded to Carothers and Cromwell.

Arnold Carothers, chairman of the board for Carothers, attended the ceremony: "Once again, our project team is making us look good. Scott (Spence), Don (DeCurtins), Bob (Dineen), Nita (McVeigh) and the rest of our folks working on the Naval Center are doing a great job—and I'm proud of them."

Carothers construction is a full-service general contractor based in Water Valley. The 40-year-old company is experienced in all types of construction, with an exceptional track record in correctional and detention buildings and improvements.

Carothers is currently building the Wellman administration building in Bay St. Louis.

Kitchens by Design is a new business which opened August 4th of this year. Although the showroom is new, the owners, Steve and Jean Barrios, have been designing and remodeling kitchens and baths for 15 years. As a boy growing up on the bayou, Steve learned woodworking from an elderly neighbor who built his own boats. Steve's cherished memories of that neighbor and skills he learned laid a natural foundation for his cabinet business. Steve no longer builds cabinets, but he drew upon that experience to select well-built cabinet lines for resale in the showroom. Steve and Jean are committed to serving you with quality cabinets and countertops, and great service. They believe good service is a precious commodity, and therefore, treat each kitchen as if it were their own. They believe the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you". Visit Steve and Jean at Kitchens by Design in the Pine Tree Plaza, 790B Hwy 43 So. in Picayune or call 601-798-1242.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1997-5B

Bay Middle School gets a new sign

By Kristy Cosby
Public Relations PTO
At the beginning of this school year Bay Middle has been trying to get a much needed sign for the school. Bay Middle School's building is more than 70 years old and never has had a sign.

The money the school PTO raised had already been spent on computers and copy machines for which teachers have long been waiting.

The school could not afford a sign at this time, so the PTO decided to go to the community for some support.

The first step was to Lightning Quick Signs, owned by Gary Knoblock. The situation was explained to him, and he was asked if he would help get a sign for the school. Without hesitation he took on the whole project without any cost to the school.

The children designed the mascot and the slogan "If You Can't Run With The Big Cats, STAY in Your Cage." He used that and designed the sign for Bay Middle School. Knoblock took a personal interest in the community in doing something that will benefit the school as well as the children having what we call "Tiger Pride."

Bay Middle School teachers and students wish to express a special thanks to Mr. Knoblock for helping accomplish this. Principal Dr. Elidia (Lilly) DeBlieux is very appreciative for Mr. Knoblock's efforts in completing this project from start to finish.

To help celebrate this occasion Adams Loraine Florist donated balloons and ribbons. Bay Middle School much appreciates this support. It means a great deal to the students and greatly benefits the school.

Bay Middle has a new look inside and out, and Dr. DeBlieux extends a personal invitation to anyone interested to stop by and come visit the school.

School sign donated

Bay Middle School is the proud owner of a school sign courtesy of Lightning Quick Signs, owned and operated by Gary Knoblock. A selection of students helped last week celebrate with a ribbon cutting for the new sign. This is the first sign ever for the school's building which was constructed in the 1920's, principal Dr. Libby DeBlieux said. (Echo staff photo by Ellis C. Cuevas)

USMGC Business Division earns accreditation

The Division of Business at the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast has earned initial accreditation from the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business.

AACSB, the oldest and most prestigious accrediting agency for programs in business, announced recently that USM's College of Business Administration graduate and undergraduate business programs in Hattiesburg and on the Gulf Coast had received accreditation effective until the year 2006.

For Hattiesburg, AACSB granted reaccreditation while the program at USM Gulf Coast received accreditation for the first time.

The action puts USM among 25 percent of 1,200 business programs nationwide to hold AACSB accreditation.

"The impact of this accreditation for USM Gulf Coast is two-fold," said Dr. David Duhon, interim chairman of the Division of Business at USMGC.

"The first impact is in the area of graduate studies. Many schools will not admit students to their graduate programs unless they have graduated from Secondly, this is recognition that USM's business programs are among the top programs in the country. We are the only accredited business program in south Mississippi. That's something to really be proud of and something I think potential students will look at when they choose a business school," Duhon said.

Dr. Tyrone Black, dean of the College of Business Administration at USM, said the AACSB peer review team that visited USM last November commended the college for its "attainment of ethics, gender and multicultural diversity in faculty and administrative staffing, as well as in curriculum developments to include understanding of global business and multi-cultural concepts."

"It is gratifying to have external confirmation that our faculty, students and programs are meeting the national standards necessary to thrive in a culturally diverse and global marketplace," Black said.

Business schools with multiple campus operations formerly could exclude any satellite operation from the accrediting process. Duhon said the College of Business Administration has been working since the late 1980s to improve and enhance the Division of Business at USMGC and get it ready for the 1996 accreditation process and visit.

Duhon said the site team that visited in November told him they were impressed "that we had kind of a seamless operation — the curricula on both campuses were identical — that the faculty were strong and that the students do well."

The site team also praised USM's business programs for extensive use of interactive video to offer courses to other sites on the network like the USM Center in Jackson County.

Black praised the reaccrediting of the Hattiesburg campus program and the initial accreditation of the Gulf Coast campus program as a "team effort."

"All in all, our very successful accreditation result was a team effort involving faculty, administrators, staff, students and members of the business community," Black said.

'Wacky' at Bay Catholic

The students and faculty went "wacky" at Bay Catholic Elementary. In an effort to promote school spirit, everyone was encouraged to leave their uniforms at home and dress in their "wackiest" on a recent Friday. Most of the students wore non-matching socks and shoes, some wore hats or pants, mixed-up color/pattern clothes and wore their hair in unusual ways. One group of normal looking uniformed students went to the playground and paraded around the flag pole. However, the real fun was when the students went to the gym and danced up at school wearing their pajamas complete with nightgowns, hair curlers and oversized animal slippers.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Thanksgiving is right around the corner. It's a time to praise God for all his benefits. We thank God for food, clothing, shelter, transportation, communication, the degree of health we enjoy, the freedom we have to come and go. . . . The list goes on and on.

Most importantly, we ought to thank God for the Spiritual benefits we enjoy. "Let the redeemed of the Lord say so, whom He has redeemed from the hand of the adversary" (Psalm 107:2).

The redeemed ought to give thanks to their Savior before a watching world. Redeemed people are purchased and set free. The image is that of slavery. Someone comes along and purchases a slave. Then he gives the slave freedom. That someone is Jesus Christ.

We are slaves. We are slaves to sin and evil. We are due the death penalty for our evil deeds. Christ willingly goes to the cross and dies, He pays the death penalty for slaves like us. He sets us free.

Giving thanks to God

The adversary in this picture is the devil (1 Peter 5:8). Slaves of sin are members of the devil's empire, the kingdom of darkness (Colossians 1:13). Jesus Christ boldly raids and plunders the strong man's house (Mark 3:27). Christ then leads forth a host of captives (Ephesians 4:8). Ultimately he leads them into the inner precincts of heaven (John 14:2, Hebrews 6:20).

How Should We Pray?

Everyone has their own unique way of praying. Whether we pray in public or from the silence of our hearts, God hears our prayers. Although the things we pray for may not always turn out the way we believe they should, it strengthens our faith when we trust that God knows what is best for us. We should not get into the habit of just saying "give me" prayers or praying only in our time of need. God knows the desires of our heart, and the Bible tells us that He will supply all of our needs. Worshipping, praising, thanking, rejoicing, repenting, and petitioning, should all be part of our prayer life. The Lord's Prayer was given to us by Jesus, and besides being a wonderful prayer to recite, it is a good example on which to pattern our spontaneous prayer life. Praying is communicating with God and it is a blessing that will draw us closer to Him. God does answer our prayers and the only thing He wants in return for this is our love and faithfulness.

...When you pray and ask for something, believe that you have received it, and you will be given whatever you ask for.

Starr Bros. Circus

Circus coming to BSL Saturday, November 15

The Bay-Waveland Elks are sponsoring the Starr Bros. Cavalcade of Circus Stars performance of two shows on Saturday, Nov. 15 on the grounds of Casino Magic on Hwy. 90 at the foot of the Bay Bridge.

The public is invited to witness the unloading and the raising of the big top beginning at about 9 a.m. Shows will be at 3 and 7 p.m.

The circus announces the addition of a baby elephant to complement their already world-famous free Kiddie's Petting Zoo Wonderland. All of these little "non-petite" pixies will be on display along with their six-ton "nanny" from 9:30 a.m. throughout the day.

Joining these little wonders will be Princess Minnie, Starr Bros.' own performing hippopotamus. She was orphaned at birth and was bottle raised at the Circus' Texas Ranch. She will arrive in her own climate controlled luxury vehicle and will be on exhibit throughout the entire day.

"Winkum" and "Blinkum," two pygmy midget-zebras from the African Velt, along with dozens of rare, exciting and exotic wildlife will also be on display for the day. A special invitation is extended to school field trips and student groups of all ages along with the public in general.

The massive Big Show itself will present a 100-minute spectacular at each of the two shows with scores of clowns, acrobats, aerialists and circus superstars gathered from every continent of earth.

Starr Bros. own caregivers will be present throughout the day to answer any questions about any of the scores of animal species on exhibit or actually performing.

Advance ticket prices are $6 for adults, $4 for children under 12 and seniors 65 and over. Tickets at show time will be $10 and $6 respectively. Advanced tickets may be purchased from Elks' by calling 467-2100 or 466-3929 or at County Purchasing Office, 153 Main Street; Radio Shack, Choctaw Plaza, Waveland; or Benigno's, 132 Blaize Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Net proceeds to Elks will be used to support community activities by Elks.

Coliseum announces 20th anniversary events

The Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center will be celebrating 20 years as the South's largest beachfront facility throughout the week of Nov. 10-16. The celebration will include the grand opening of the new $10 million 80,000 square foot expansion of the convention center. The official dedication of the new facility will take place at a by-invitation-only reception Friday, Nov. 14.

The week of activities begins Monday, Nov. 10 with the opening of the Off Shore Village on the oak shaded, beachfront grounds of the Coliseum. The Village is the official "Dry Dock" area for the World Class Off Shore Power Boat Championship Races which are taking place in the waters of the Mississippi Sound just south of the facility. The Village, which will be home to the multimillion dollar race boat and their pit crews, will be open to the public throughout the week.

In addition to the Off Shore Village on Tuesday, Nov. 11, the Coliseum will host a free public concert. Headliners for the concert will be announced at a later date.

The Coliseum will host the Mississippi Coast Chamber of Commerce's monthly Business After Hours on Thursday, Nov. 13. The Chamber function will be a wine and cheese affair with tours of the new convention center where the Business After Hours is being held.

The official dedication of the convention center expansion will take place in the center on Friday, Nov. 14 from 5:15-7 p.m. The event centers on a world class theme in keeping with the fact that the new facility is undeniably "world class."

Laser lights, a spectacular cheese carving of the coliseum and convention center, international cuisines with several action stations, live entertainment and special guest speakers will highlight the black tie optional affair.

The event is by invitation only. The Mississippi Sea Wolves hockey game will follow the event with face-off against South Carolina at 7:05 p.m.

Saturday evening, Nov. 15, the Mississippi Sea Wolves again take to the ice against the Mobile Mystiks. During the game, a giant cake will be brought out on the ice for the 20th anniversary and the crowd of over 9,000 will be invited to sing happy birthday to the facility.

The crowd will also be invited to attend a free birthday party in the new convention center immediately following the game. The party will feature cake, soft drinks, entertainment, balloons and much more, in a festive "birthday party atmosphere."

Public ice skating on the arena rink will be open throughout the week as well. Tours of the facility will be conducted as well. Dates and times for both these events will be announced at a later date.

In addition to the public events, the facility, along with the Mississippi Coast Convention and Visitors Bureau and several hotel and casino properties, will host a regional/national meeting planners familiarization tour.

The special weekend includes the above activities and a number of Coast tours and additional entertainment activities as well. The economic impact expected from future business brought through this group is more than $35 million over the next few years.

While a few of the planners will be looking to book conventions, meetings and trade shows at the facility in 1999, most will be interested in 2000 and beyond.
